RE: Equifax Breach Information

NSB Bank Customers:

I am writing today to inform you that Equifax, a leading company in credit reporting, reported Friday morning that their data base had a cybersecurity breach which they think may have impacted 143 million US consumers. The breach happened during a time frame between mid-May & July 2017.

With this being said, if you have question or inquiries about the Equifax breach I suggest that you first click on the interactive link below to read the article and listen to the video that Equifax's Chairman and CEO has created for its customers.

Please see the website below for additional information and a video from the Chairman/CEO of Equifax along with an article about the incident. I strongly encourage you to read the article and watch the video yourself so you are aware of what went on and how Equifax is handling the situation. According to the video, Equifax is also assisting customers with credit monitoring free of charge.
